

Victoria Gregory—Economist (May 2020)

Joined the Bank Staff May, 2020

Education PhD Economics
New York University
2020
BA Economics and Mathematics
New York University
2012

Areas of Interest Macroeconomics, labor economics, search

Journal Publications

"Pandemic Recession: L- or V-Shaped?" with Guido Menzio and David Wiczer, Federal Reserve Bank of Minneapolis Quarterly Review, May 2020, Vol. 40, No. 4011, 1.

Working Papers

"Firms as Learning Environments: Implications for Earnings Dynamics and Job Search,"
Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis Working Paper 2020-036A, October 2020.

Other Publications

"Accounting for Job-to-Job Moves: Wages versus Values," Working Paper , with Andrew Caplin, Soren Leth-Petersen, Johan Saeverud, Chris Tonetti, and Gianluca Violante, posted October 2020

"Defined Contribution Pensions, Retirement Income Uncertainty, and Precautionary Savings," with Andrew Caplin, Saeverud, Johan, Eungik Lee, and Soren Leth-Petersen, Working Paper , Slides, posted September 2020

"Firms as Learning Environments: Implications for Earnings Dynamics and Job Search,"
Working Paper , Job Market Paper, posted August 2020

"Perturbation Methods for Heterogeneous Agents Models with Borrowing Constraints," with David Evans and Mikhail Golosov, Working Paper , unpublished, posted April 2020

"The Effect of Social Security Reform on Labor Supply Elasticities," with Sebastian
Graves, Lars Ljungqvist, and Thomas J. Sargent, Working Paper , unpublished, posted
April 2020