

Hannah Rubinton—Economist

Joined the Bank Staff April, 2020

Education

- PhD Economics
Princeton University
2020
- BA Economics and Mathematics
McGill University
2012

Areas of Interest Economic Geography, Macroeconomics, Trade

Working Papers

"The Role of Establishment Size in the City-Size Earnings Premium," with Charly Porcher and Clara Santamaria, Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis Working Paper 2020-029C, November 2022.

"The Impact of Racial Segregation on College Attainment in Spatial Equilibrium," with Victoria Gregory and Julian Kozlowski, Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis Working Paper 2022-036A, October 2022.

"The Geography of Business Dynamism and Skill Biased Technical Change," Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis Working Paper 2020-020D, October 2022.

"Shipping Prices and Import Price Inflation," with Maggie Isaacson, Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis Working Paper 2022-017B, August 2022.

"Inequality in the Welfare Costs of Disinflation," with Benjamin Pugsley, Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis Working Paper 2020-021C, September 2021.

Other Publications

"Inequality in the Welfare Costs of Disinflation," with Benjamin Pugsley, Working Paper , unpublished, posted December 2019

"The Geography of Business Dynamism and Skill-Biased Technical Change," Working Paper , Job Market Paper, posted December 2019

"The Role of Establishment Size in the City-Size Premium in Spain," with Charly Porcher and Clara Santamaria, Working Paper , unpublished, posted September 2019